Feast/Solemnity/Memorial/Saint of the Week

(12 - 17 July 2021)

Tue	13/7	St Henry
Wed	14/7	St Camillus de Lellis, priest
Thu	15/7	St Bonaventure, bishop, doctor
Fri	16/7	Our Lady of Mount Carmel

Henry II also known as Saint Henry the Exuberant, was Holy Roman Emperor from 1014. He died without an heir in 1024, and was the last ruler of the Ottonian line. As Duke of Bavaria, appointed in 995, Henry became King of the Romans following the sudden death of his second cousin, Emperor Otto III in 1002, was made King of Italy in 1004, and crowned emperor by Pope Benedict VII.

Camillus de Lellis was a Roman Catholic priest from Italy who founded the Camillians, a religious order dedicated to the care of the sick. Having been ordained priest, he laid the foundation of the Congregation of Regular Clerics to administer to the sick.

Bonaventure born Giovanni di Fidanza, was an Italian medieval Franciscan, scholastic theologian and philosopher. The seventh Minister General of the Order of Friars Minor, he was also Cardinal Bishop of Albano.
He is known as the Seraphic Doctor and a Doctor of the Church.

Our Lady of Mount Carmel

The patronal feast of the Carmelites. The Order of Carmelites takes its name from Mount Carmel, which was the first place dedicated to the Blessed Virgin and where a chapel was erected in her honour before her Assumption into heaven.
July 16 is also the feast of the "Scapular of Mount Carmel."

Our parish will hold the Holy Father's Appeal next weekend (Weekend 24-25 July) for which we ask your support. Through your gift you can help Pope Francis bring hope, opportunity and the spirit of Jesus Christ to our less fortunate brothers and sisters around the world. Thank you.

Pope says pandemic a 'lesson in humility'; warns against doing 'what we did before'

ROME — Ahead of the feast of Sts. Peter and Paul, Pope Francis welcomed a delegation from Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew I of Constantinople on Monday, urging Orthodox and Catholic faithful to not "squander" the "dramatic crisis" caused by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The delegation was in Rome to celebrate the feast of the patrons of Rome, celebrated on June 29.

The "scourge" of the pandemic, the Pope said in his remarks, "has tested everyone and everything. Only one thing is more serious than this crisis, and that is the risk that we will squander it, and not learn the lesson it teaches. It is a lesson in humility, showing us that it is not possible to live healthy lives in an unhealthy world, or to go on as we were, without recognizing what went wrong."

Pope Francis also warned against the "senseless notion" that the world can go back to what it was, relying on "false securities, habits and projects that aim exclusively at pursuing wealth and personal interests, while failing to respond to global injustice, the cry of the poor and the precarious health of our planet."

Christians too, he said, are called to reflect on whether "we want to go back to doing what we did before," as the pandemic had not happened. According to the Pope, the present crisis is an invitation to "distinguish, discern and sift" between what is enduring and what is passing.

Quoting the Apostle Paul, Pope Francis said that what endures "is love, because while everything else passes away, 'love never ends.'"

"Far from a romantic love, closed in on our personal feelings, desires and emotions, this love is concrete, modelled on that of Jesus," the Pope said, adding that the Gospel promises abundant fruit not to those who acquire riches for themselves, or to those who seek their own advantage, but to those who generously share with others.

The Pope also told the ecumenical delegation that every crisis represents a crossroads: "We can withdraw into ourselves, seeking our own security and expediency, or we can be open to others, which entails risks but also God's promised fruits of grace."

The time has come, he said, for Christians working towards full communion to give further impetus to their efforts to break down "ancient prejudices and definitively overcome harmful rivalries," perhaps with the two Churches walking more closely together, without ignoring the differences that still need to be resolved through dialogue.

"The witness of growing communion between us Christians will also be a sign of hope for many men and women, who will feel encouraged to promote a more universal fraternity and a reconciliation capable of healing past wrongs," Pope Francis said. "This is the only way to the dawn of a future of peace."
